Children have continued to work hard on their multiplication and division including working with remainders. They have also had a sneak peak at our next unit on fractions and decimals...

The highlight of February has been our trip to the Fitzwilliam Museum where children were able to work with a museum teacher to develop their observation skills as well as spending time enjoying the wider galleries!

Children designed their own experiment to end our unit- Are two ears better than one? Wolfson had some fantastic hypothesizes, suggesting one ear could be better!

Children in both classes have enjoyed writing persuasive leaflets to convince children to join Fawcett primary school. We have highlighted our favourite features and have collected quotes from each other to include in their leaflets.
